

Introduction of REBEL Cast

Welcome to the introductory episode of REBEL Cast. For those of you who haven't checked out the website before REBEL EM stands for Rezaie's Evidence Based Evaluation of Literature in Emergency Medicine.

The Voices of REBEL Cast

Salim R. Rezaie, MD
Assistant Residency Director of Emergency Medicine
Assistant Clinical Professor of Emergency Medicine/Internal Medicine
University of Texas Health Science Center at San Antonio
(UTHSCSA)
San Antonio, TX
Twitter: @srrezaie

Matt Astin, MD, MPH
Assistant Clinical Professor of Emergency Medicine/Internal Medicine
Mercer University School of Medicine
Macon, GA
Twitter: @mastinmd

Anand Swaminathan, MD, MPH
Assistant Residency Director of Emergency Medicine
Assistant Clinical Professor of Emergency Medicine
Bellvue/NYU
New York, NY
Twitter: @EMSwami

Many of the faculty from the University of Texas Health Science Center at San Antonio

Breakdown of the Podcast

The podcast will follow a very straightforward format from episode to episode, with evaluation of several papers per month in the following manner:

1. Setting of the clinical stage with a clinical question or a hypothetical case
2. Discussion of research going through some of the pertinent results and limitations
3. Evaluation of each paper will end with our clinical take home points and how this should affect your practice

This will not be a long, in-depth review of the design, methods, and statistical analysis of research, but rather brief reviews of what you need to know to deliver the best possible care to your patients.

How can you get papers to us for evaluation?

Essentially, there are three ways to get us articles to review:

1. Email us at rebelemcast@gmail.com
2. Go to the REBEL Cast Page and drop us a line
3. Hit us up on twitter at: @srrezaie, @mastinmd, and/or @EMSwami